Special Election - February 6

Missouri House of Representatives – District 97

DAVID LINTON (R)

Occupation: Lawyer, self-employed

Age: 59

Elected offices held: N/A

Highest post-secondary education: M.A., Exegetical Theology, Covenant Theological Seminary; J.D., University of Missouri – Columbia, B.S., Chemical Engineering, University of Missouri - Rolla

Website: Facebook – David Linton for State Representative

Incumbent: No

What are your top three priorities for Missouri?

1)The protection of life, liberty, and property. Government has grown to a point where it is consistently taking all three from the people. As the pro-life endorsed candidate, I have the credentials to be a voice for the unborn, elderly, and disabled. 2)Keep taxes low and government out of the way so that families and small businesses can thrive. 3) Support our law enforcement officers.

What would you do to improve the office you seek?

I will work for the people of my district and the state. I will stand up to special interest groups. I will support policies that shrink the size of government and increase its transparency, root out waste, fraud, and abuse so that my constituents can keep more of their hard-earned money. I support the 2nd amendment rights of Missourians and policies that promote and defend life.

Special Election - February 6

Missouri House of Representatives – District 97

MIKE REVIS (D)

Occupation: Procurement Manager, Anheuser-Busch

Age: 27

Elected offices held: N/A

Highest post-secondary education: B.S., Business Administration—Marketing, University of Missouri

Incumbent: No

What are your top three priorities for Missouri?

In order to fight for hardworking families, my top priorities are standing with labor to be a voice for working people, supporting public education so teachers and students have the resources they need to succeed, and advocating for Medicare for our seniors. It starts by voting and it starts by supporting candidates who won't be blinded by the extreme polarizing views of the two parties.

What would you do to improve the office you seek?

I will bring back what we demand and expect but have yet to receive from our elected officials; honesty, transparency, and the opportunity to be heard. I've made every effort to meet community members and hold public events to understand the many opinions within our district. I will continue with this approachability while bringing back and owning moderate political views
